Gardening Club News

April 2019

It's a small world!

Limoges airport isn't where you'd expect to meet up with an Oxenhope Gardening Club member! However, returning from my first trip out to the garden in France last week, a voice greeted me with, 'Oxenhope Gardening Club'? I don't know the name of the member who greeted me, but I hope she identifies herself at the next club meeting; it would be interesting to compare gardening experiences in France!

Over the years, I have planted a tree in the garden in France for each of my grandchildren. This year, to mark the birth of my latest grandson, I have planted a Japanese Cherry, Kanzan

Lowther Hall Gardens Restoration

The speaker for April will be Martin Ogle.

Martin is Head Gardener at Lowther Hall Gardens Cumbria. Martin will be talking about the 20 year project that is in progress to restore the gardens, which date back to the 17th century. The project includes the 21st century contribution from world famous landscape designer, Dan Pearson, who has been involved with the restoration since 2004 in particular with the design of a new parterre garden.

Species Tulips

While modern hybrids tulips make a wonderful display in the spring garden, wild tulip species and their cultivars also offer rewarding displays. The cultivar featured is Tulipa humilis which flowers here from April, but in the wild, in central Asia at heights above 3,000m, it flowers in July. They are very hardy but need good drainage and full sun. A place in a rock or gravel garden is perfect.
