Gardening Club News

January 2019

Welcome to the 2019 gardening season

Happy New Year! Welcome to January's newsletter and welcome to all our old and new members.

The committee wish you all a great gardening year for 2019. We are unlikely to get the same glorious summer that we had last year, but whatever the weather, we are sure you will enjoy the programme we have planned for you for 2019. Frustratingly, I will be missing the wonderful Anna Pavord as I will be visiting my daughter in New Orleans.

Anna Pavord talks garden styles

The speaker for January will be Anna Pavord.

As well as a contributing editor to Gardens Illustrated, Anna has written a number of gardening books, including The Tulip a fascinating book about the history of the tulip.

Anna will be talking about different and distinctive garden styles and providing a fresh perspective on garden design. Anna was also featured on Desert Island Discs in November 2017

AGM 2019

The AGM has been postponed until the February meeting as our first evening of the new programme is going to be busy with finalising membership. In February, amongst other things, we will be reviewing the past programme.

We will also be asking members to vote in a new committee.

The committee always welcome member's feedback and suggestions.

The present committee would warmly welcome anyone who would like to join us in 2019.

We meet during the months of January to May and then again from September to November

The meetings are in the evenings lasting approximately 90 minutes with mouth-watering cakes to help move along informal but garden-focused discussions!
